Board to Ban Some Traffic From Interstate Highways

BOISE, Sept. 24.—A policy ruling out travel on interstate highways by pedestrians, non-motorized vehicles and horses except "where no reasonable alternate route exists" has been adopted by the state highway board.

The board, which opened a four-day meeting here Monday, planned to meet today with individuals or groups urging additional aid to the state highway system; improvement of state 25 east of Jerome; and improvement of state 20 north of Aberdeen.

It will meet jointly with representatives of the bureau of public roads and the forest service Wednesday to allocate an estimated $3 million dollars in federal funds for 1964 forest highway construction.

In its policy statement on interstate roads the board also agreed to prohibit bicyclists or "motor driven cycles" or less than five horsepower, along with trailing of livestock and the stopping and parking of vehicles on the right-of-way.

The board said as the interstate highway system expands, it will be necessary to restrict travel on certain sections of the interstate system.

Benson Lauds Birch Society Leader as Great Patriot

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—Benson said, "but he was our friend."

Benson said he is not a member of the John Birch society, but he is a great patriot. He is a great patriot. He is a great patriot.

Benson spoke at a $50-a-plate testimonial dinner honoring Robert Welch, founder and leader of the John Birch society, at the Hollywood Palladium.

He was followed by Welch who read critical comments of himself from excerpts taken from his own book, "The Turner Diaries," and non-communist publications. Welch said the comments "offer the greatest measure of proof of the society's effectiveness," and added they would make it appear that "they came from a single conspiratorial source."

Earlier, at a news conference, Benson said he told the state department at least two years before Fidel Castro seized Cuba that the bearded rebel was a "hardcore communist."

Benson, who was secretary of agriculture during the Eisenhower administration, said the state department apparently did not consider it important.

Benson said his agricultural agents in Cuba told him in 1950 that Fidel Castro's communist convictions and he took the warning "to the top" in the state department. The late John Foster Dulles was then secretary of state.

He said the United States would have done better to support the deposed Juan Batista. "He was a dictator, that's true."

GLENNIS PERRY, Sept. 24—Most Elmore county taxpayers will pay more for each $100 assessed valuation this year than last year in spite of a cut in the county mill levy, but Glennis Perry will have the same levy as in 1962, according to County Clerk Bill Trail.

Farmers Scorn Russ Wheat Sale Plan

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 24 (AP)—Farmers in the nation's biggest wheat-producing state sounded a discordant note today in the chorus heading a proposal to sell United States wheat to Russia.

Most of the farmers and farm leaders of Kansas, a traditionally conservative state, looked upon the proposal with distrust in a survey of reaction.

But they generally agreed that the proposal to extend the wheat market to communist nations deserved a cautious appraisal.

The only farm voice from Kansas in full accord with the proposal was that of Lud Strnad, Brewster, a member of the national agricultural advisory committee and vice-president of the Farmers Union Co-operative Marketing association.

"I think it perfectly all right to sell wheat to Russia... and to any other Russian satellite... and China," said Strnad.

"It is grossly unfair that the one product exported from the United States that is most responsible for our favorable dollar exchange should be hampered by ideology."

Other wheat growers, however, blasted it as a political coverup for the failure of the Kennedy administration to develop an acceptable wheat program this year.

Martin Byrne, Topeka, president of the Kansas Farmers Union, called the proposal a "mathematical device to get some of the people and groups off the hook who are blindly and confidently predicted that we would get a new, permanent wheat program that would solve all of our problems."

Byrne said the sale of surplus wheat to communist nations also could lead indirectly to wider acceptance of communism.

"I don't think the people of these (communist) countries would ever know that they are eating American wheat," said Byrne.

The Kansas Farmers Union's hopes have been that one day the people of the iron curtain countries would get their bellies full of communism. But if their bellies are full of our wheat, the day they come to a conclusion on communism may be postponed.

Other farm leaders took a softer tone in expressing their distrust of the proposal.

"It seems to me a cautious attitude among the farmers," said Walter Peirce, Hutchinson, president of the Kansas Farm Bureau.

"We would like to see some of the surplus wheat moved, of course," Peirce said. "But we don't want to hurt the country's security."

"The attitude seems to be that, members 'still feel that wheat appointed' that Canada had sold 500 million dollars worth of its wheat to the Soviet nations. They seem to think Canada was wrong and that we wouldn't make the same error," said...

OPERATING SLAVE MANIPULATOR at the EBR-II hot cell are some of the visitors at the open house last week-end at the National Reactor Testing station near Arco. Five facilities were opened to the public in tribute to Enrico Fermi and his associates who, on Dec. 2, 1942, made the first atomic fission reaction.

VISITORS AT OPEN HOUSE at the National Reactor Testing station, near Arco, last week-end are shown the EBR-II reactor control console during a tour of the facilities. Despite threatening skies, more than 3,000 Idahoans and a few neighbors from Oregon, Montana, Utah and Wyoming visited the testing station. The open house was held in honor of man's first controlled release of atomic energy more than 20 years ago. Five of the testing station's facilities were open to the public.

Nehru Says China's Policy Is to Pry India Out of Nonalignment Position

NEW DELHI, India, Sept. 24 (UPI)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today that China's policy is to pry India out of its nonalignment position.

"China is in the picture, of course. China has considerable population in these countries. We have not, except for some in Burma and Malaya and scattered here and there."

"There is no real competition between us and China in Southeast Asia. But the fact remains that Southeast Asia is next-door to China and dominated to some extent by China."

"That was one of the reasons behind the Geneva agreement in 1964 under which France left Indochina. The agreement recognized that the Indochina states had to be more or less neutral."

"They cannot and dare not be against China. Others do not want them to be with China. This was the Geneva agreement situation, otherwise there would be war. And this more or less continues to be the position. If either side tries to dominate, there should be domination by either major group, there is a clear danger of broad conflict."

Nehru said the Soviet Union and China are near a breaking point, but he did not believe the break would come quickly.

Nevertheless, he said, he believes the people of Russia and China are "very bitter against one another now."

Would Red China's bitterness lead to stepped-up pressures on India?

Nehru reflectively touched the inevitable red rose in the buttonhole of his white tunic and replied:

"I cannot say whether there will be increased pressures. One cannot predict what the Chinese will do."

Is India ready for increased Chinese activity?

Nehru smiled wistfully and replied, "We are as ready for it as we can hope to be."

Tiredly and sadly, Nehru talked in a philosophical vein about Asia, its tensions and its massive problems. Clearly he was worried about recent events in Southeast Asia, including differences between Indonesia and the new nation of Malaysia.

But about solutions he was vague.

"So far as India is concerned, there is no question of throwing our weight about in Southeast Asia and we have no wish to do it," Nehru said. "We desire that they live as independent progressive countries, and that we have friendly ties with them."

Retirement May Not Slow Chancellor

BONN, Germany, Sept. 24 (UPI)—Konrad Adenauer is stepping down as West German chancellor next month, but no one expects him to step out of West German politics.

He shows every indication of meaning to make his influence strongly felt. If things don't go to his liking, he will be in a good position to breathe down the neck of his successor, Ludwig Erhard, four years his vice chancellor and economic minister.

Adenauer has never hidden his own opinion of Erhard's political ability.

Despite his 87 years, Adenauer intends to keep hard at work in two political jobs he will continue to hold: head of the dominant Christian Democratic party and member of the Bundestag. The Bundestag is the house of the West German parliament that makes most decisions.

He will no longer be sitting on the high government bench with Erhard at his side, looking down on the ordinary members. He will be in one of the front ranks if down below, gazing up sharply at Erhard and the rest of the cabinet—most of whom have served under him.

Adenauer remains a member

Prince Confers With President Concerning Laos

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (UPI)—Prince Souvannah Phouma, prime minister of neutral Laos, had a one-hour talk Monday with President Kennedy about the problems of Laos and neighboring Viet Nam.

Souvannah Phouma has upset American policymakers by supporting French President Charles de Gaulle's call for reunification of Viet Nam, divided into communist North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam.

The Laos prime minister maintains that "unification" of Viet Nam would be the only way for peace to be established in his own troubled country.

Plans Noted For Resort At Gem Lake

BLOOMING, Sept. 24—Plans for a private resort at Williams Lake, near Salmon, were announced here Tuesday by P. L. Mayne, president of Delta Development, Inc.

Mayne said the balance of Gem Lake recreation property was purchased by the corporation and the entire area will be subdivided and platted into lots.

He said settlement has been made with the state and the United States.

What the lots are sold, he said, he desired. M. M. Melton, former owner, has agreed to sell the lower ranch and most of the public, making a private resort out of Williams Lake open to property owners.

Gem Lake has been known for years as one of the top Idaho fishing spots.

Most of the property is owned in excess of one-half acre. A construction company has started laying out lots and building roads around the lake.

Williams said a total of 370 lots will be allowed on the ranch. Of 100 of these have been sold.

Southern Cal Clings to No. 1 Rating With Slim Vote Edge Over Alabama

Alabama and Oklahoma moved up behind powerful support from all sections of the country Tuesday to challenge Southern California for the No. 1 ranking among college football teams. The Southern Cal Tigers, undefeated national champions in 1962 and a solid contender to pick up the top spot in the Associated Press poll, were just a slim vote edge over Alabama in the poll.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVET
Coaches and athletes have long held sports provide a character building culture that few non-participants ever come to know. During the past years, however, there have been dozens of instances where the opposition has taken these utterances right down the throats of the faithful few.

The gambling case in the National Football League last spring and the hubbub about a possible sellout of the Alabama-Georgia game immediately to mind. Belatedly you hear about the arguments for the defendants.

One such case to light Monday and this column would like to throw a "hot" dagger at Arthur Mills, Shoshone. Mills had his chance to change the complexion of a ball game and give his team a lead. At least, a tie in the opening game with Murren. All he had to do was tell the "amateur" that he would approve. Mills wouldn't.

The situation arose in the second half while the game was still scoreless. Mills lined up at his tackle position to protect on a passing play. The quarterback, faded far behind, the line and backfield were in a huddle. Mills was the only one who could see it and eventually ended up in the end zone.

One of the officials, Gordon (Whitely) Price, Burley, saw No. 31 beyond the line but since Shoshone wasn't using the numbering system, he had no way of knowing where Mills was. He was the only one who walked into the Shoshone huddle, where the Indians were calling the play for the point. Mills attempted to block. "What position were you in on that play?"

Later Price said "I could tell he knew his number would play an important part in the game. He looked at me for several seconds and I could see his mind was working. Then he said 'tackle'."

Needless to say, that cost Shoshone the touchdown, plus a 15-yard penalty and lost game. With 30 seconds left in the game, Murren scored and won it 7-0. But what Price knew was only part of what Mills was really thinking.

Charles E. Bels, Shoshone coach, disclosed it Monday night. "The boy (Mills) talked to me with me after the game. He felt he had done everything perfectly legally. Our quarterback had faded a long way back. Although the pass was high and long, Croft actually caught it only eight or 10 yards beyond the line of scrimmage. Croft felt he was still within the legal three-yard penetration zone and he released his block when he saw the ball going over his head."

Another legal thing? "We, of course, didn't like to lose the game but we feel pretty good about Mills. He proved he wasn't the kind of kid who had. He felt he had done everything legally and could very easily have said 'pass' and the touchdown was ours. But he didn't. We think it's worth the loss to find out our boys are playing the game for the good, clean competition instead of having the attitude of winning at any cost."

And to that, we can only add, amen.

Hoopie Says Idea of Ties on First Week-End Unthinkable

By Major Anne R. Hoopie
Egad! Such pitfalls on the first week of prognosticating almost are enough to drive me into the cellar for a bout with some of those preserved dandelions I put up earlier this summer. It becomes very difficult to imagine that game fortune should strike us with two ties in the first week-end. It is even more surprising that I didn't foretell too well with my own predictions. I shall sharpen up this week, although the odds are long.

With less say. Happily, although no one picked the two ties on the slate, there were some very sharp predictions. Four persons missed but three and based on the point guesses here is the first championship of the fall. Ted (Cris) Shover, Phil, scores 10, Bill Goodman, Rupert, gets 15, and Larry Buhl, Kimberly, receives 20. The latter, by one point, leads, headed the no-vote miss.

Among those with four include Nelson A. Campbell, Twin Falls; George McDonald, Rupert; D. L. Martin, Buhl; Don Ackerson, Ketchikan; William B. Foster, Twin Falls; and Evelyn Thomas, Twin Falls.

Each of my memory serves me correctly about seven of these were winners last year.

This week, as I mentioned earlier, the battle is filled with trouble spots. You will notice Major Hoopie picked Twin Falls to nip Buhl by one point. It is fair to warn you Twin Falls is not favored, but here I am, saying the percentages. Buhl has won the last five meetings.

Still in the high school ranks are choices between Buhl and Murren. Cooling air, Phil and Shoshone at Kimberly. There can be no real favorites here.

On the college side, we lead it off with Oklahoma as the favorite. This one is expected to carry the mythical national championship on the balance. There also is the game between Idaho and a Utah.

Let me urge all of you to enter this week. Just fill in the ballot and mail it to the Times-News. Grading contests begin on Friday. Some have found the rewards make it much more desirable than working.

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 24 (AP)—Chuck McKinley, reigning Wimbledon champion from San Antonio, Tex., was declared fit Monday and is certain to be included on the U.S. team playing the British in the inter-zone Davis cup tennis match Thursday.

McKinley missed two days of training because of a throat infection, but he was back in practice Monday and said: "I guess I've got used to the weather. I'm not worried by the hard courts."

TORONTO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Nobly Wickowski, head coach of the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, said Monday he found his entire offensive team running blindfolded in a 31-14 victory over Calgary.

Red Devil's Homecoming Game Friday

MURTAUGH, Sept. 24 (AP)—Homecoming will highlight the football game at 2 p.m. Friday between the strong Murtaugh Red Devils and out-of-district for Rockland.

The Red Devils enter the game with a 3-1 record and coach DeVon Anderson doesn't know what to expect Friday. "I don't know a thing about them," he reports.

Murtaugh won its third game last week by downing Declo's Hornets 18-12. The Red Devils scored in the first quarter when Devin Rose hit Brian Ward with a short forward pass. Ward intercepted it off to Dick Green, who went 35 yards in the second period. Green zipped 42 yards on a counter play.

But the third quarter took the usual kickoff and ran it back 80 yards for Declo's first touchdown.

Early in the fourth quarter, Ted Byersson capped a drive by punting for the last two. Murtaugh made it 10-0 with a 10-second punt. Darrington started around, hurdled the last drive. Murtaugh tackled and went 70 yards for the final Declo points.

Stuart Freshmen Rally to Nip Buhl
Stuart junior high school's freshmen Teddy Bears came out to nip Buhl 12-12 Monday night.

Buhl moved in front 12-0 when Bremers went 40 yards up the middle then Scott broke off tackle and romped 80 yards.

Stuart got one back with three minutes left in the half when Doug Tackles kicked a Buhl pass and returned it 50 yards. Early in the fourth quarter, Doug Flint fired a long pass into the end zone. A Buhl man deflected it into the arms of Scott Swopes for the touchdown and Louie Carlsberg punted for the decisive extra point.

Investigator Looks Into Conerly Case
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 24 (AP)—National Football League investigator poured over bankruptcy records Monday in his inquiry into financial dealings linking former New York Giant football star Charles Conerly with an accused gambler.

The records were those of Master 1 Lewis, bankrupt Memphis developer under indictment on a charge of operating a bookie setup that took bets on football games.

Five checks totaling $9,575, endorsed by Conerly or his wife, turned up at Lewis' bankruptcy hearing last June. The Memphis Press-Scimitar made the disclosure last Friday in a copy-right story.

Both Conerly and Lewis, who say they have been "personal friends for a number of years," said the checks were payment of loans that the retired Giant quarterback made Lewis. And Conerly said he could produce his own financial records which would prove it.

The NFL investigator, Jim Hamilton, spent the week-end talking with Conerly in Clarkdale, Miss., and with Lewis' acquaintances here.

Conerly, former Ole Miss star, retired as the Giants' quarterback at the close of the 1961 season.

Mauch Runs Wild In Clubhouse
HOUSTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Gene Mauch, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, threw a food around the Philadelphia clubhouse Sunday night after his team lost a 2-1 decision to the Houston Colt .45s.

Mauch told the Philadelphia players they were "Little Leaguers."

Mauch ruined dress suits of Wes Covington and Tony Gonzalez when he emptied a pan of gravy containing spaghetti, the paper added.

Idaho Puts Emphasis on Pass Attack

MOSCOW, Sept. 24 (AP)—The University of Idaho Vandal football team will emphasize the pass attack in their first game with the 1963 season.

USC Coach Can't See Sooner Woes

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24 (AP)—John McKay, coach of the Southern California Trojans, declined Monday to feel sorry for the Oklahoma Sooners.

The Sooners' sports information director, Harold Keith, told McKay that the Sooners were downed and out-gained, just managed to score a 31-14 victory Saturday over the Trojans.

McKay's Trojans have the Sooners next Saturday in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, and McKay has had his eye on them. He told the writers:

"I hope never to see a fast football team in Oklahoma is slow. The Sooners are a very fine team. I heard about how the Sooners had the big edge in statistics, but, gentlemen, it still is the score that counts."

The 1963 national champions from Colorado 14-0 Saturday, but McKay was disappointed in the margin. He said he thought the Trojans could win 28-0, but changed his mind when he saw the field.

"Not only was the grass high," he said, "but the mud was six inches deep."

Macmillan's Future Eved By Party

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP)—The ruling Conservative party today sought clues to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's future among the rank and file.

Party officials were reported to be taking careful soundings in the offing constituency, on the state of the 50-year-old prime minister's popularity.

The question of when to call the next general election, which must come within a year from next month, also was being canvassed.

Most of the unofficial poll-taking was considered preliminary pending publication Thursday of Lord Denning's report on the affair between resigned War Minister John D. Deane and call girl Christine Keeler.

Treatment of the $50,000-word inquiry by the press and the public, particularly the conservative, was expected to play a large part in determining Macmillan's next move.

He is faced with the choice of stepping down for a younger man or fighting the next general election against odds which most observers feel favor the Labor party.

Macmillan began a week of intense political activity yesterday with his fourth cabinet meeting in five days. No announcements followed the session.

Political sources, however, said Macmillan had rejected Labor Party Leader Harold Wilson's demand that parliament be recalled to debate the Denning report.

Pre-Snack Grace to Be Continued

LONG BEACH, Calif., Sept. 24 (AP)—A pre-snack grace for nursery school children will continue despite a county council ruling that it is illegal, the Long Beach board of education says.

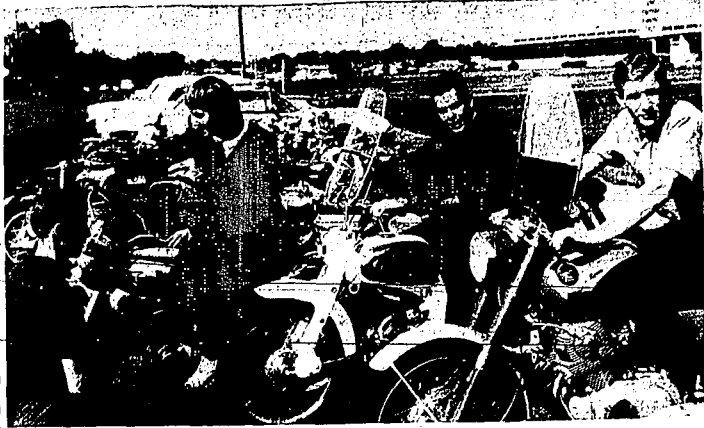

The board voted unanimously Monday to continue the prayer after the county council said the practice violates U. S. supreme court decisions making similar school prayers illegal.

The board said it would receive and file the opinion.

The prayer, recited before the mid-morning snack at eight Long Beach nursery schools, goes:

"God is good. God is great. We thank You for the food on our plate."

Demos Hit at Meeting of GOP Women

Mrs. Owen Barnett, Boise, Republican national committee woman for Idaho, was guest speaker during the Twin Falls County Republican Women's club meeting Monday afternoon in the Regeron hotel State room.

Mrs. Barnett said, "The Democrats are resorting to the desperate tactics of threats and name calling, judging from the speeches made at the Democrat-Western States conference held at Salt Lake City."

"Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., speaking at a $100-a-plate dinner, implied that anyone who disagrees with President Kennedy or is of a conservative nature is a bigot, wild man or radical rightwinger."

"Obviously the Democrats are aware that their various techniques of promises and payoffs have not won Western support. Thus, in desperation they have turned to threats."

"No westerner likes to be threatened, and these Democratic methods will only result in further losses for the New Frontier."

It was announced during the meeting the Western States Republican conference will be held Oct. 10-13 at Eugene, Ore. Gov. Elton Rockefeller of New York will be featured speaker during the Oct. 12 noon luncheon and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R., Ariz., will speak during the Oct. 12 evening banquet meeting.

Darndest Thing You Ever Heard—More Motorcycles

If you haven't seen them, you at least have heard them—the great number of motorcycles being driven in the Twin Falls area. And, they are on the increase.

The county assessor has registered between 450 and 500 motorcycles so far this year, compared to 374 for all of last year. The low in registration of motorcycles was in 1956, when only 126 were registered. The increase was slow until 1961, when registration jumped from 250 to 374 for 1962.

According to the assessor's office, the trend toward motorcycles is still on occasion and buy motorcycles for their youngsters to avoid many of the consequences of teenagers owning a car.

Many parents realize the danger of motorcycles, as they do cars, but they state, on the positive side, that motorcycles are used more just for transportation rather than recreation.

One parent put his view bluntly: "Whoever heard of a teenage couple parking on a motorcycle."

The motorcycles range in size from the bulky speedster to the small scooter, which sometimes is fondly referred to as a "piddle jumper."

Of course, what becomes a craze with the younger set becomes a headache for the high school authorities.

The increase of motorcycles at the high school has been so numerous that George Slaughter, principal, has the students park all motorcycles in one bunch for more orderly parking. Also, the place designated for the motorcycles can be watched easily from the administration office.

Policy Changes Regarding Indians Are Outlined at Interstate Meet in Boise

BOISE, Sept. 24 (AP)—Delegates to the Governor's Interstate Indian Council met here today to discuss changes in policies of the bureau of Indian affairs in the last 26 months have brought sharply increased efforts to provide jobs for Indians, train and educate them and improve their housing.

Res. W. Quinn, tribal affairs director for the bureau in Washington, spoke at the governor's banquet Monday night. He gave a summary of the bureau's commissioner of Indian affairs, Philip West, who was unable to attend.

Quinn told the delegates, however, that the attainment of basic goals outlined for the Indians will not come quickly or easily.

Speakers at a symposium on Indian relations with federal and state governments Monday afternoon emphasized the need for state and local organizations to coordinate or prevent the Indians' problems.

Harold Parley, Boise, the moderator, noted that Idaho, Nevada, Wyoming, Colorado and Kansas have no such organizations.

Alvin Salukins of the Yakima tribe in Washington said the statewide Indian council meets annually with state and federal officials and lays out its recommendations. He said this results have been "100 per cent."

Salukins said relations with the state were so good that the Indians were able to write their own hunting and fishing regulations for Indians off the reservation.

J. D. Holtz, area director for the bureau at Portland, speaking on the question of what happens to Indians who leave the reservation for the city, said they become—the responsibility of the community.

Quinn said in the last 26 months, since the report was submitted, there has been a very tangible shift in the desired direction. He said the bureau sets maximum Indian economic self-sufficiency, full participation of Indians in American life, and equal citizenship responsibilities and privileges.

But he said there still is a need for tribal organization. He said there are 250 tribes, about 250 groups are organized, and keeping in mind construction, for which 12.5 million dollars was spent in 1962, had grown to a total of 135 million dollars for the three active. He said.

"Of tribes, that don't have economic advantages, over 50 per cent are almost completely inactive," he said.

MEN AT WORK

helping to solve your laundry-day problems

These men aren't working on a new type of laundry machine, but they are helping remove laundry-day problems from thousands of Pacific Northwest homes. These are "roughnecks," drilling for natural gas—the wonderful fuel that heats your wash-day water and dries your laundry more quickly, more gently than any other way. Drilling for natural gas is a tough job—and a costly one. Despite modern technology, "roughnecks" need strong muscles to operate drilling equipment. Then, only one exploratory well in nine actually turns out to be a producer; and each well costs $100,000 and more. But the effort and the cost are tremendously worthwhile. Because, of course, natural gas does many things well—in addition to smoothing out your laundry days. Natural gas serves 40 million homes in the United States. Thousands of industries and businesses rely on natural gas for a multitude of uses. If you are not yet using natural gas, learn its advantages . . . call your retail gas distribution company* noon.
